County school building program committee examining school sites

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A design committee for the Hancock County School District building program will meet Saturday to visit two possible sites for the new junior-senior high school.

The group met Friday with school board members and Architect Bill Thompson and Engineer Buddy Broadway.

At this meeting Broadway reported initial findings on six sites the school board had been considering for the new school.

The first three sites he discussed are located on Crump Family property and if selected the land would be donated to the school district.

The sites are located on property across from the entrance road to Stennis International Airport beginning 1,500 feet off Highway 603.

However, the committee and school board decided against these sites because of high costs to develop the property for building.

Broadway told the group extensive work including clearing, bringing in fill material, establishing site drainage and building an access road will be necessary on the three Crump family sites.

The cost for this site work will range from $253,000 to $275,000, he said.

Other sites considered include two 40-acre parcels which face the Stennis access road. These parcels must be purchased for the school district's use and $185,000 is being asked for either parcel.

The site designated as Site 4, is adjacent to the vocational school located at Stennis.

Broadway said this site is reasonably well-drained and site development will cost approximately $115,000.

Site 5 is adjacent to Site 4 and is slightly lower land but is closer to Highway 603, according to Broadway. Site development is estimated at $142,000.

The sixth site is located off Highway 603 approximately 1.5 miles north of the Stennis access road. Site 6 is also known as the Kiln Industrial Park or the former ammunition plant.

This site is a 60-acre site and owners have agreed to sell the site to the school district from $184,000.

"Site 6 is basically flat and has better drainage but one negative factor is that it is about 1.5 miles north of the end of a Stennis Airport runway," Broadway said.

Site development is estimated at $113,200.

However Broadway said he does not think this would be a significant problem.

Board Member Wayne King outlined positive factors of the property including existing industrial power on the site and several buildings which are included in the cost of the entire 60-acre site.

After an extensive discussion, the school board and committee members agreed to eliminate sites 1, 3 and 5 and concentrate on Sites 4 and 6.

However further discussions are planned with the Crump Family.

An original site donated to the district for the new school was recently rejected by the board after it was determined to be unsuitable

Cuevas appointed Beat Two supervisor

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Friday appointed Ronald Cuevas to fill the vacant Beat Two seat on the board.

Cuevas, winner of the Tuesday Democratic primary election against incumbent A.A. Kellar, was appointed on a motion by Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner in a special meeting Friday morning but can not be sworn in until he receives a commission from Governor William Allain. Board Attorney Gerald Gex stated.

After the commission is received, Cuevas can be sworn in by Chancery Clerk E. Michael Neceise.

Kellar, who was serving as board president, resigned at a special meeting and press conference Wednesday, ending 37 years in public office.

The remaining four board members had agreed Wednesday to delay an appointment until after vote totals for Cuevas were certified, which was completed by election officials Thursday night.

Cuevas, who operates Cuevas Grocery and Hardware in Pearl-ington, had received 1,089 votes, according to official totals. Kellar had received 916.

"I'm very happy to be appointed. Even though it is earlier than I anticipated, I still feel I have the ability to be effective and make decisions for the benefit of the county," Cuevas stated.

The board has been recessing on a day-to-day basis in order to hear any objections to the county's property tax rolls. Gex said a special meeting will probably be called as soon as Allain provides a commission for Cuevas.

In other business Friday, the board, in a meeting conducted by its new president, Beat Five Supervisor James Travira, approved a $6,600,000 special tax levy request from the Hancock County School District.

The board does not actually have a choice in the matter and must approve such special taxes under the law, Gex said.

"It's really a rubber-stamp sort of thing. The county is bound by law to cover the school district's request," the attorney explained.

The special tax will pay the principle and interest on bonds for con-

County planners to consider new subdivision in 2 weeks

The Hancock County Planning Commission will consider approval of a subdivision in the Diamondhead area Aug. 20 at a special meeting.

The approval was postponed Thursday at the regular meeting.

At the meeting, Donn Murray, county building inspector, reported 33 permits had been issued for $1,414 during July.

The permits were issued for eight houses, five trailers, three renovation or addition projects, eight travel trailers, five existing trailers, one shed and other items.

The estimated value of the new construction, additions and renovations for which permits were issued is $333,290, Murray said.

that the person be a resident of one of the four area counties, be 18-years-old or older, have a substance abuse problem and be willing to participate in the program.

The first step to help is visiting the Gulf Coast Mental Health office, Ribar said.

On Mondays and Tuesdays, therapists are available at the Bay St. Louis to talk to "anybody about anything."

Ribar says these therapists talk to people about whatever they need to talk about from marriage to divorce or death to finances.

Fees for services received from the mental health center are based on a sliding scale which considers the number of people in the household and total income.

Cost for a session may range from $3 to $70, which is still lower than most professionals in private practice charge, Ribar said.

For more information or to set up an appointment visit the Bay office or call, 467-1881.

Mental Health center branch office open in Bay St. Louis

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremonies were conducted Wednesday for the Hancock County branch office of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center in Bay St. Louis.

The office is located in Shieldsborough Square and staffed by professionals from the Gulfport offices of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

A variety of services are available to Hancock County residents through this office of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center which services four counties including Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone.

Among the program areas are mental health, mental retardation and alcohol and drug abuse.

Staff members provide consultation-education, crisis intervention, outpatient, inpatient, day treatment and after care services in all the program areas as needed.

Approximately 40-50 people a month have visited with staff members in the Bay office since it opened in February.

Dr. John W. Ribar, coordinator for substance abuse services, is in the Bay office on Fridays.

He believes there are a great number of area residents who could benefit from the services offered but who have not contacted the office.

About 10 percent of the patients at Live Oaks treatment Center, a residential center for people with substance abuse problems, are from Hancock County, he said.

"At Live Oak, we have a 30-day, intense and highly structured program which is as good as those offered anywhere," Ribar said.

More people might seek assistance from the center if they knew how much help they could receive at Live Oak, a county and state funded center, compared to places where it would cost $7,000 to $15,000 for the same 30-day program, Ribar added.

The only way to be admitted to Live Oak is through Gulf Coast Mental Health and the requirements are

Dr. John W. Ribar in the children's room at the Bay St. Louis office of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

MINEOLA MARS
JOHN MARQUER
CARROLL F. MAYNE

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at J. Ben O'Keefe Funeral Home in Ocean Springs for Gary Howard Dupree, 46, of Ocean Springs.

Burial followed in Antioch Missionary Baptist Church Cemetery in Ocean Springs.

Mr. Dupree died Thursday, Aug. 6, 1987, in Ocean Springs. He was a native of New Orleans, La., and had lived most of his life on the Gulf Coast. He was a supervisor for Ingalls Shipbuilding and a member of Antioch Missionary Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Juanita Reeves Dupree; his mother, Mrs. Alma Ashburn Dupree; two daughters, Cynthia Dupress and Mirhanda Dupree; all of Ocean Springs; five sons, Gary J. Dupree of Kodiak, Alaska, and Greg Dupree, Sterling Dupree, Lyndon Dupree and Benjamin Dupree, all of Ocean Springs; three sisters, Marylin Andries of Port Allen, La., and Vina Schoenick and Cathy Milazzo, both of Ocean Springs; two brothers, James Dupree of Diamondhead and Jeff Dupree of Ocean Springs; and two grandchildren.

BRO. JOSEPH GEORGE

Brother Joseph George, of The Brothers of The Sacred Heart died at Oschner Hospital in New Orleans Friday, Aug. 7, 1987 following a brief illness.

A wake and Mass of Christian Burial were celebrated at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis on Monday, followed by burial in the Brothers' cemetery there.

A native of St. Paul, Kansas, he was 79. Brother Joseph took care of maintenance at Brother Martin High School since its opening in 1969, having done similar work at Cor Jesu High School prior to the consolidation of these two schools.

Earlier, he had been stationed at Cor Jesu from 1959-1965 in the same capacity. All told, he spent 27 years in New Orleans at one or another of the Brothers' schools.

Son of Joseph George and Anna Carroll, he attended St. Joseph Prep School in Muskogee, OK where he first came in contact with the Brothers of The Sacred Heart. Impressed by their lifestyle, he joined the order whose headquarters were at Metuchen, N.J.

BRO. JOSEPH GEORGE

A year later he received the habit of the order there and followed the exercises of the novitiate.

At Metuchen in 1926 Brother Justus—his name early on—made his vows for the first time. Six years later at Bay St. Louis he took his final vows.

Brother Joseph rendered service in various capacities—as cook, farmer, laundryman at St. Joseph High School in Metuchen; Colndre Hall in Huntington, New York; and St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. For the most part, however, he served as maintenance man in such assignments as McClancy Memorial High School in Jackson Heights, New York; and Bishop Dunne High School in Dallas, Texas; in addition to his two stints, referred to above, on Elysian Fields Avenue.

Survivors include his sister Helen—Mrs. Michael Hammerbacher of Fort Scott, Kansas.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home of Bay St. Louis was in charge of local arrangements.

MINEOLA MARS

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Saturday at McDonald Funeral Home Chapel in Picayune for Mrs. Mineola Mars, 73, of Route 3, Picayune.

Burial will follow in New Palestine Cemetery.

Mrs. Mars died Thursday, Aug. 6, 1987, in New Orleans.

She was a member of Harmony Baptist Church.

Survivors include five daughters, Mrs. Betty Ann "Cookie" Dobbs, Mrs. Marilyn Palmer and Mrs. Lynita Thornton, all of Picayune; Mrs. Charlene Hendrix of Carriere and Mrs. Lovada Bond of Ozona; two sons, Leon Mars Jr. of Mendenhall and Larry Mars of Picayune; one sister, VCatherine Boline of Picayune; three brothers, Thomas Lawler and J.B. Lawler, both of New Orleans, La., and Patrick Lawler of Gautier; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

JOHN MARQUER

John Augustus Marquer, 79, Jeff Davis Avenue, Waveland, died Wednesday, Aug. 5, 1987, in Pass Christian.

Mr. Marquer, a native of New Orleans, was a Catholic.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Ethel R. Marquer.

He is survived by a brother, August Marquer of Pittsburgh, Pa. Graveside services were conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at St. Vincent de Paul No. 3 Cemetery in New Orleans.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis was in charge of arrangements.

CARROLL F. MAYNE

A funeral service will be conducted at 11 a.m. Monday at Riemann Funeral Home Chapel in Bay St. Louis for Carroll F. "Tommy" Mayne, 52, of Bay St. Louis.

Burial will follow in Lakeshore Cemetery.

Visitation will be from 4 p.m. until 11 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home with a rosary at 8 p.m.

Mr. Mayne, a native of Frederick, Md., died Saturday, Aug. 8, 1987, in Jackson.

He was member of St. John's Catholic Church in Lakeshore and was self-employed as a fisherman.

He was preceded in death by his father, Enos L. Mayne Jr. Survivors include his wife, Mary Ann Wright Mayne; his mother, Myrtle Warfield Mayne; four sons, Thomas L. Mayne, Robert E. Mayne, Richard A. Mayne and John C. Mayne; two daughters, Carol Ann Santalla and Mrs. Mary C. Rush; all of Bay St. Louis, and six grandchildren.

COURAGE TO BEGIN AGAIN

John Callender was an officer under George Washington in the Revolutionary War. He failed miserably during the battle of Bunker Hill and was dismissed from the army for behaving as a coward. On his papers, General Washington wrote: "Cowardice—most injurious, and the last forgiven."

To his credit, Callender allowed his shame and embarrassment to move him to try to overcome the past and redeem his good name. He reenlisted in the army as a private and so conducted himself at the Battle of Long Island that Washington reinstated him as a captain and revoked his earlier sentence.

May Callender's failure and success encourage all of us. No person escapes episodes of weakness, failure and humiliation in this life. Sin is experienced in all of our lives. Paul said, "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23) Those with the courage to begin again are people to be admired.

Sin makes cowards of many people. The devil degrades us to the extent of causing us to deny the fact of sin. The tendency to be defensive and filled with false pride increases. James teaches, "...God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble...be afflicted, and mourn and weep; let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to heaviness. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he will lift you up." (James 4:6, 9-10)

David, the king of Israel, took the wife of a soldier and had him killed by the Ammonites by withdrawing from him in battle. In the process, he was guilty of adultery, murder and lying.

Though we can be forgiven, we must reap what we sow. Nathan pointed out David's sin to him. David repented. Nathan also told David the consequences of his sin. He said, "Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment of the Lord to do evil in his sight?... Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house; because thou hast despised me, and hast taken the wife of Uriah, the Hittite, to be thy wife." (II Samuel 12:9-10)

David repented. He said, "I have sinned against the Lord." (II Samuel 12:13) He further said, "Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy loving kindness; according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions. Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin. For I acknowledge my transgressions; and my sin is ever before me." (Psalms 51:1-3)

Though the sword never left his house, David served the Lord. The Lord through Samuel deposed Saul from the kingdom. Samuel said, "But now thy kingdom shall not continue; the Lord hath sought him to be a man after his own heart..." (I Samuel 13:14)

How was he a man after God's own heart? When he sinned, he repented. He continued faithful to God.

Have courage to repent and begin again!

Red Cross Volunteers needed in Hancock

Volunteers are needed in Hancock County to work in case of a disaster.

Volunteers are being trained on how to handle and register families coming into shelters, shelter management, mass feeding, nursing, caring for victims, family service work, janitorial services and maintenance.

Persons interested in being a volunteer and attending classes may contact the Red Cross Hancock County office which is open Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 9 to 11 a.m. in the old Hancock County jail building on Court Street in Bay St. Louis.

To preregister for classes call 467-7609, 467-7991 or toll free 1-896-4511.

MISTER ROGERS

Going to school can be exciting, but sometimes it's frightening too.

A week of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" programs, devoted to preparing young children for their first day of school, will be shown at 4 p.m., beginning Monday through Friday, Aug. 10-14, on Mississippi ETV. Each program will repeat the following day at 8 a.m. The program at 4 p.m. on Friday will be rebroadcast at 8 a.m. the following Monday.

The five programs are designed to help preschoolers with their first days of school, exploring their concerns about what their teacher and new classmates will be like, how much they will have to know before they get to school and who will take care of them there.

Pass Literary exhibiting Scarborough silhouette works

The Pass Christian Public Library is currently showing Scherenschnitte (paper cutting) works or Silhouette works by Doris Scarborough of Pass Christian.

Originally from Natchez, Scarborough has been living in Pass Christian since 1980 and has been interested in Scherenschnitte for a long time.

Her works are based on designs of the late 18th, 19th centuries and on Art Nouveau. This type of work was also named after Etienne de Silhouette, French minister of Finance in 1759 and became quite popular up to the turn of the century in book illustrations.

Ms. Scarborough also hand-paints cloth with Jert Gremillion which are used as floor rugs.

She is a member of the Ship's Gallery in Pass Christian, and the Pass Christian Art Association.

The exhibit may be viewed free of charge through the month of August during library hours. The Library is located at 111 Hiern Ave. immediately north of City Hall.

'Foreigner' provides comedy, suspense

BY DENA BISNETTE

Seabells should be issued along with tickets to "The Foreigner," a comedy currently running at Center Stage Theatre on Cowan Road in Gulfport.

The play, about an Englishman masquerading as a "foreigner" who can't speak any English, can raise enough laughter to knock an audience out of its seats.

If the comedy is not enough to do it, then the suspense will be.

Rodgers benefit concert set at Ole Miss

A broad array of traditional and modern musical styles will be featured at the University of Mississippi Saturday, Aug. 22, at a benefit concert for the Jimmie Rodgers Memorial Association.

The show is set for 7 p.m. in Fulton Chapel and will probably run three hours or more, according to Bill McNeill of Mountain View, Ark., who is president and secretary of the memorial association and organizer of the concert. Tickets are $7.

The concert will be taped in its entirety by ABC-TV, with excerpts to be used on "The Dolly Show," starring Dolly Parton.

The Jimmie Rodgers Association, headquartered at the University's Center for the Study of Southern Culture, is involved in various activities carrying on the legacy of Rodgers, the Meridian railroad man who is called the "Father of Country Music."

Among the scheduled benefit performers are Tony Joe White, whose hit songs include "Poke Salad Annie" and "Rainy Night in Georgia;" Perfect Tyming, a bluegrass band from Starkville; the Bill Sky Family of Newark, Ark., a father and two daughters playing old time country music; Comer and Deborah Mulins of Mountain View, a husband and wife duo with championship finger-style guitar credentials; and Glenn Ohrlin of Mountain View, a traditional cowboy singer who is also a poet and author of the music book, "Hell Bound Train."

Others performing will be Van Williams of Rayville, La., and McDonald Craig of Linden, Tenn., both singing Jimmie Rodgers songs; Buddy and Kay Bain and their band of Tupelo, hosts of the WTTA television "Mornin' Show;" Patsy Montana, first female vocalist to sell a million records in the country-western field with "I Want To Be a Cowboy's Sweetheart;" and Jacky Christian and Robert Spicer with a troupe of buck dancers.

Military Mention

CADET IRVING

Cadet Deborah E. Irving, daughter of Althea and Rudolph Kennedy of 15 Betsy Ave., Pass Christian, received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp, at Fort Riley, Kan.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training. Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

Irving is a student at the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg.

One of the featured actors is Bay St. Louis resident Gayle Roy, who plays Betty Meeks, an old lady who runs the Tilghman County, Ga., fishing lodge where a well-meaning friend leaves Charlie, the Foreigner, for three days.

Roy's countrified accent and stooping walk is funny when she talks and reveals her ignorance about anywhere outside of home, but becomes even more pronounced as she deals with Charlie, deciding that he "can almost understand you if you talk loud enough."

She also employs a good deal of exaggerated mime as she plays charades to communicate with her guest, who completely brightens the dismal outlook she has had since she learned the lodge might be condemned.

She also shines brightest when she deals with Eillard, the younger brother of another guest. At first she treats Eillard as the half-wit she believes him to be, spending a lot of her time shaking her finger in the boy's face and yelling at him in a shrill tone.

Bill Lipscomb casually plays Betty's friend Froggy LeSueur with a worldly swagger.

LeSueur is an English army demolition expert who visits her each year while assigned to temporary duty with a Georgia post, then brings her Charlie and also her only view of the world outside Tilghman County.

Lipscomb's cockney accent is one of the hallmarks of his performance and never falters throughout the play, not even during one of last week's performances when cast members sang Happy Birthday to a spectator between acts.

4-H youth position open

Applications for an Extension 4-H Youth Agent's position in Monroe County are now being accepted, according to Dr. James R. Carpenter, director, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES). The county office for this position is located in Aberdeen.

The minimum requirement for this position is an earned bachelor's degree in home economics from an accredited institution of higher learning, reported Dr. Carpenter.

Interested persons should contact the MCES Personnel Office by a letter postmarked no later than Aug. 18.

Letters of application may be mailed to Mr. Milburn Gardner, Personnel Officer, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 5446, Mississippi State, MS 39762, or call 601/325-3462.

Applicants may also contact their local office of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission. MCES is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

News Briefs

FALL FASHION SHOW

North Shore Square's Back-To-School Fall Fashion Show is scheduled for Aug. 15, 2 p.m. in the Maison Blanche Court.

Back-To-School fashions and accessories will be presented by the North Shore Square merchants at the Slidell mall.

BOOKCOVERS AVAILABLE

As of Aug. 1 North Shore Square will be providing four (4) Back-To-School bookcovers with each purchase of $50. These very colorful bookcovers are available now through Aug. 30 1987. They may be obtained from the North Shore Square mall office located near D.H. Holmes.

Chuck White easily makes the transition between a shy, introverted person who fears he has no personality to the animated and outgoing Charlie.

He is especially good while he is still having to rely on mostly facial expressions and an invented, Russian-sounding, jibberish to convey his reactions to the secrets revealed in front of him because "he doesn't understand."

His best scene is with Michael O'Neill, who plays the slow-witted Eillard with a Gomer Pyle-like expression and turned-up cap, when Charlie suddenly receives a breakfast table English lesson from the village idiot.

O'Neill plays a gawky, wildly enthusiastic Eillard who becomes a potential scene-stealer, but competent acting by the other players keeps him from doing so.

Sharon Cameron is a surprise as Eillard's sister Catherine, a wealthy ex-debutante afflicted with irritability and worry until she meets Charlie. The actress suddenly softens her character as she finds a special confessor, giving depth to her role.

As her boyfriend, the Rev. David Marshall Lee, Robert Lesley appears almost, but not quite saintly enough for a man of his profession, a fitting portrayal in a part that is key to the plot's suspense.

Don Perrin turns in a terrifying performance as the sleazy and violent Owen Musser, a crooked building inspector with a personal motive for condemning Betty's lodge.

Also briefly appearing in the play, which is directed by White, Ruth Ann Pecoul and O'Neill, are Ed Huhn, Roy C. Napper and Michael Normandin.

The plot is not only appealing but provides suspense similar to a television soap. The questions are just waiting to be asked and include whether Charlie will be found out, why Owen wants the lodge and whether Catherine will marry David.

The Foreigner continues through Aug. 16 with evening shows at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinee performances at 3 p.m. Reservations are available at 896-6455.

Organization criticizes news analysis of governor's race

By EDGAR H. PEREZ

The Hancock County Concerned Citizens Organization Thursday expressed criticism of news reports that gubernatorial runoff candidate Mike Sturdivant enjoys a distinct advantage because of his personal wealth.

Sturdivant, who polled 16 percent of the vote statewide in Tuesday's Democratic Primary Election, will face State Auditor Ray Mabus in an Aug. 25 party runoff election.

Mabus took 37 percent of the vote in Tuesday's primary.

"We feel it is a disservice to the public for news reports to imply that because of his personal wealth Mr. Sturdivant will be able to 'get out the vote' in the runoff election," said Geraldine Lang of Bay St. Louis, Concerned Citizens president.

"The days of offering somebody $2 to go to the polls and vote a certain way are long gone," Lang stated.

"One newspaper headline that appeared Thursday stating that money and a jinx are the keys to the governor's race makes us wonder if we as voters are going to let money influence our votes," Lang continued.

"A man's personal millions cannot run our state's government, that is done through the taxpayer dollars," she stated.

"Whichever candidate can work to make our state productive educationally and sound economically is the one we should look to, rather than one whose appeal is based solely on personal wealth," the organization spokesperson added.

Lang noted that Hancock County Concerned Citizens as yet has not officially endorsed a candidate for any office in the forthcoming August runoff or November general elections.

Evenings in the Park continue at seashore

The "Thursday Evenings in the Park" interpretive program series at the William Colmer Visitor Center, Gulf Islands National Seashore, Ocean Springs, Mississippi, continues during the month of August with programs that highlight the many features of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Superintendent Jerry Eubanks announced today.

The Interpretive Program Series is presented by National Park Service volunteers and staff.

"The Southern Infantry Soldier" will be the topic of the August 20th interpretive program, when Mr. Keith Hardison, Superintendent of Beauvoir and Volunteer at Gulf Islands National Seashore will present a living history program on the Confederate foot soldier.

Mike Hobbs, Channel 10, WALA TV, cameraman and a volunteer-in-the-park for Gulf Islands will conclude the interpretive program series for the month of August with a lecture on the "Methods of Wildlife Photography," Thursday, August 27.

All programs begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the William Colmer Visitor Center and are free of charge. Reservations are requested and can be made by calling (601) 875-0821.

ELECT ROBERT "PETE" PETERSON SUPERVISOR BEAT ONE

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the warm, courteous reception I received throughout my door-to-door campaign in Beat One.

To those of you I did not see, I will try in the next few weeks to contact you to discuss the issues that are concerning you about our county or beat.

Thank you for the opportunity you have given me to represent you in the August 25 run-off election.

Quotables by CUEVAS

There is a need in Hancock County for Red Cross volunteers in case of a disaster. Volunteers are trained at many tasks which are needed in case of a disaster.

As the majority of you know, we reside on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and are now in hurricane season.

If there is a threat of a hurricane or an exceptionally high tide, many residents of the low areas have to evacuate and go to shelters.

Volunteers are needed to do such things as register families entering shelters, feeding, nursing and on and on the needs go.

Persons interested in receiving further information about being a volunteer can call Jeannie Garcia at 467-7609 or 467-7991; or a toll-free number 1-896-4511.

The local Red Cross office is open Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and is now located in the old Hancock County Sheriff's office next to Civil Defense headquarters.

We hope the volunteers are never needed, yet it is best to be prepared.

This is a time of the year when very few plants and shrubs bloom in our area. But this is the time of year crepe myrtles are still in bloom.

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club has for several years been trying to get residents to plant at least one crepe myrtle on each lot in both cities.

Crepe myrtles seem to bloom during the hottest part of the summer and are very hardy shrubs.

Wouldn't it be nice to see crepe myrtles planted throughout the cities?

The campaigning for the majority of candidates has now been completed and it appears the majority of their posters and signs have been removed.

We are happy to see the candidates and their supporters remove the posters and signs after the candidates races have been settled.

There are still several very important races to be settled with run-offs in Hancock County.

That run-off will be held on Tuesday, August 25.

It seems we jumped the gun on our comments about the two school districts sharing special education administration.

The two school districts are only looking into the possibility of sharing special education administration.

The matter still has to come before the Hancock County School Board for review.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

Consolidation still a vital issue for schools in Hancock

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

The people of Hancock County voted for the unit system to save money so that we could use it elsewhere.

While we are in the money saving business we should consolidate our school systems. The money saved could then be used for improving the quality of our education.

The consolidation could cut out the salary of one superintendent and five school board members plus office, maintenance, and utility bills.

Consolidation is a system of the future. When we consolidate, I-10 will be the dividing line. We should think about consolidating now rather than building a $7.8 million school which will be on the boundary line of the future consolidation.

Therefore, we should plan for the future and not solely for the present. The consolidation of the schools would save a lot of money at a time when the economy is poor.

Transportation for the school is expensive, costing half a million dollars a year. Additional buses for the new school will cost even more. The alternative will be to drop off students at one school and then continue to the next school with the remaining students.

To avoid this and other problems, we propose building an elementary school at Hancock North Central across the road from the high school. With the remainder of the money update Bay High and Bay Junior High to meet the needs of consolidation.

Building the elementary at Hancock North Central would eliminate building a new football field. We could build a small practice gym for the elementary.

To eliminate traffic through the school grounds, we could make a request to the supervisors of the district to put a new road just south of the football stadium to Cuevas Town Road.

Every student south of I-10 would go to the Bay schools and every student north of I-10 would go to Hancock North Central. This proposal would save money and help keep politics out of our schools.

REPORT TO MISSISSIPPIANS

RURAL HEALTH CARE ISSUES MUST BE ADDRESSED

Problems in providing health care in rural areas across the nation are fast reaching a crisis level. A recent article in the New York Times reported the closing of an alarming number of hospitals, mostly in rural areas, due to economic problems. The Mississippi Hospital Association estimates that of the approximately 100 rural hospitals in the state, 35 to 40 are in financial trouble, with two hospital closings already reported. The evidence can't be denied. Something must be done to rectify this situation.

Every community is entitled to adequate health care. When the need arises, every individual should be assured of proper medical service. The tremendous advances we have made in medical technology in recent years must be available to people in both rural and urban areas if we are to really improve American health care in a meaningful way. However, if the current trend continues, this basic right is in serious jeopardy.

Our nation's rural communities have problems and needs which are different from urban areas. They have a higher proportion of poor, chronically ill and elderly residents, all with specialized health needs. Rural hospitals, often the only source of health care in a county, are generally small and have greater difficulty covering costs with a smaller number of patients.

One widely-recognized problem which affects the current economic status of small hospitals is the Medicare reimbursement program. Under the present system, rural and urban hospitals are reimbursed according to different scales. While rural hospitals have a smaller patient volume and often have a higher proportion of long, expensive cases to handle, they are reimbursed at a lower level than their urban counterparts. At the same time, many rural hospitals depend on Medicare for up to 70 percent of their income, well above the national average of 40 percent.

An additional problem has surfaced as a result of declining economic resources in many rural hospitals. Because of their current financial strain, many hospitals can no longer afford to absorb the costs of care for the poor and are cutting back on the services provided.

The Congress recognizes the problems of providing rural health care. A growing elderly population, the rising cost of health care, and continuing economic hard times, along with an inadequate Medicare reimbursement system, all contribute to the problem. We are working toward solutions that will insure that every area - whether rural or urban - is assured of proper health care when the need arises.

I have heartily endorsed, along with a number of other Senators, a plan by the Department of Health and Human Services to establish an Office of Rural Health. I am urging that the office have direct input into the development of Medicare reimbursement policies which have impact on small rural hospitals. In addition, I am cosponsoring legislation that will equalize the Medicare reimbursement plan for rural and urban hospitals and provide a means for communities to transform current health care services to better meet the needs of the community.

As a member of the Senate Rural Health Caucus, I am working to protect the health care interests of our rural areas. I am encouraged by the recent action to combat the problems and will continue to work to insure an effective and efficient health care program in every area of the country.

Why the Bork nomination is important

The Supreme Court of the United States is the custodian of our Constitution. Justices of the Supreme Court must not only be jurists of the highest competence, they must be attentive to the specific rights guaranteed in our Constitution and the proper role of the courts in our democratic system.

With this statement on July 1, President Reagan nominated U.S. Appeals Court Judge Robert H. Bork to become the 104th Associate Justice on the Supreme Court.

Judge Bork is widely regarded as the most prominent and intellectually powerful advocate of judicial restraint and believes that judges' personal preferences and values should not be part of their Constitutional interpretations. In essence, he feels that judges should set aside the decisions of the democratically-elected branches of government only when there is warrant for doing so in the Constitution itself.

While opponents of Judge Bork's nomination are likely to focus on specific decisions with whose results they disagree, the real issue in the current debate is not the result of any particular decision but rather the extent to which judges should respect the decision-making of the elected, representative branches of government.

I predict it will be difficult for anyone to find a reason for the Senate not to confirm him. His views are well within the mainstream of American jurisprudence.

One of the abiding truths of U.S. history is that Presidents have a right to nominate justices who share their philosophy. George Washington appointed nationalists who guaranteed the survival of the fledgling federal government. Franklin Roosevelt nominated New Dealers who upheld his ambitious programs. John Kennedy insisted on an ideological appointment to the Court when he chose Arthur Goldberg, a distinguished lawyer and favorite of big labor. Richard Nixon sought justices who would get tough on crime.

As much as some liberal members of the Senate may disagree with Ronald Reagan's belief that the judiciary's proper role is to interpret law and not to make it, they cannot say the President's interest is appointing like-minded individuals to the court is contrary to what his predecessors have done or what they would do themselves if they were in the White House.

Liberals on the Senate Judiciary Committee, including Chairman Joseph Biden and Ted Kennedy, have said they want the President to send them a nominee very much like Lewis F. Powell, Jr. (whose resignation from the Court produced the vacancy), not someone in Senator Biden's words with "ideologically honed points of view."

What they really mean is that because Justice Powell took the liberal side in a number of celebrated 5-4 decisions, notable on abortion, affirmative action and church-state separation, they want someone who can pass the "looney left's" litmus test and preserve the ideological status quo.

I don't believe that that's what a majority of Americans want.

Robert Bork won unanimous Senate confirmation in 1982 to his current judgeship on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington. As a member of that court, he has been solidly in the mainstream of American jurisprudence. Not one of his more than 100 majority opinions has been reversed by the Supreme Court. No appellate judge in the U.S. has a finer record.

When he takes his seat next to William Rehnquist, Antonin Scalia and Sandra Day O'Connor, a conservative legacy will be preserved on the court for decades to come.

After decades of activist judges using the Supreme Court for social engineering, this will be an appointment long overdue.

Summer Safety: Preventing Spinal Cord Injury

At a poolside party last summer a group of young adults were drinking beer and one man decided to entertain his friends by diving off the garage into the pool. He broke his neck. Today, his arms and legs are paralyzed and he requires a ventilator to breathe.

A "broken neck" is referred to medically as a spinal cord injury, and the extent of the damage it causes depends on the level of injury. The higher vertebral injury has a greater likelihood to cause greater damage to the spinal cord.

For example, an injury to one of the first four cervical vertebrae (C-1 to C-4) causes paralysis of the arms and legs and affects breathing. A T-1 injury may only cause paralysis from the waist down. People whose legs alone are paralyzed as well as legs are known as paraplegics.

Approximately 15,000 people in the U.S. incur spinal cord injuries each year. Most of these injuries are caused by motor-vehicle accidents. Other causes include falls, diving accidents, and sports mishaps. The majority of spinal cord injuries occur during the summer, and victims usually are men between the ages of 18 and 27.

Experts at spinal cord injury treatment centers say that all of their patients had the same mistaken belief before their injury - "It will never happen to me." Even though accidents can happen to anyone, there are ways to minimize your chances of incurring a spinal cord injury.

Spinal cord injuries tend to happen to people whose judgement is impaired by alcohol or drugs and people who take unnecessary risks. In fact, about 70 percent of spinal cord injuries are alcohol-related.

That's why it's imperative to wear seatbelts at all times in motor vehicles, even when "just going around the corner" - and never drive while drinking or intoxicated. Not only should you take these precautions yourself, but you should also enforce them among your friends and family.

Spinal cord injuries from falls are often alcohol-related, as well. People who've been drinking are more likely to fall down the stairs or attempt daredevil tactics like jumping off walls.

The types of athletic activity most likely to cause spinal cord injury include football, gymnastics, tumbling, break dancing, hang gliding and mountain climbing.

You can minimize your chance of injury from these activities by being in good shape before you participate and being supervised by a more experienced person.

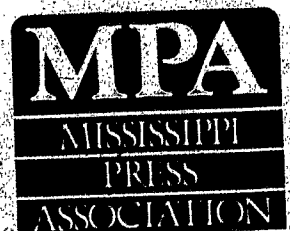

Diving-related injuries can be prevented by retaining good sense around a pool. For your own sake and your friends' sake, act and react cautiously at poolside parties.

Discourage daredevil activities like throwing people into the water. If you're a pool owner, make sure your pool is marked for depth. Keep a high fence around it, and always have rescue equipment handy.

Never dive into a body of water without being familiar with the depth and the bottom. The water should be at least six feet deep. You can break your neck on the bottom of a pool or on a rock, a tree stump, or even a sunken object at the bottom of a lake.

NASA initiates launch vehicle study

NASA said today it would initiate a study of a heavy lift launch vehicle that could use the engines, solid rocket booster, external tank and launch facilities of the present Space Shuttle. The Shuttle orbiter could be replaced by an unmanned cargo element.

The chief purpose of the study, the agency said, is to determine whether the vehicle—tentatively known as Shuttle-C (for cargo)—would be cost effective in assembling and operating the Space Station.

The results of the study will be considered part of the studies already underway of a heavy lift launch vehicle. This vehicle, known as the Advanced Launch System (ALS), is being jointly studied by the Air Force and NASA. Elements of the modular ALS also will be considered as alternatives for aiding Space station assembly and/or operations. A joint DOD/NASA steering group will monitor the progress of the studies.

The NASA-led Shuttle-C study will include Air Force participation and concentrate on minimum modification of existing systems and facilities.

The Air Force-led ALS study, which includes NASA participation, concentrates on systems incorporating advanced technologies.

The results of the Shuttle-C efforts will be integrated with the other ALS studies and enable the steering group to formulate national heavy lift vehicle strategy that may best accommodate both near term requirements, such as Space Station assembly and longer term objectives for reduced space transportation costs.

The agency said the Shuttle-C study will focus on the early heavy lift capability making maximum use of existing Shuttle systems to minimize vehicle development cost and schedule risk and to assure payload compatibility with the existing Space Shuttle payload environment.

If cost effective, such a vehicle could be used to launch planetary missions and serve as an unmanned test bed for new Shuttle boosters. The Shuttle-C would be able to lift 100,000-150,000 pounds into orbit.

The availability of such a vehicle for Space Station assembly would free the Space Shuttle for increased work in all the sciences—solar system exploration, astronomy, life sciences and materials processing experimentation. Progress in all these areas was severely constrained by the Challenger accident, and there is a pressing need for the nation to catch up, according to numerous studies.

NASA said it would seek answers to the following questions in its

Shuttle-C study:

With the exception of the orbiter, can other major hardware elements of the Space Shuttle be used?

Can present Shuttle ground facilities be used without change?

Can the Space Station be effectively and safely launched on the Shuttle-C? This will require a detailed analysis of cargo carrier loads in relation to other elements of the system.

Can such a "minimum change" program produce a highly reliable heavy lift capability by mid-1993 so it would be useful for Space Station assembly?

What role would Shuttle-C have in the National Space Transportation architecture through the end of the century.

Southern Federal Bank fills two positions

Susan Smart has been named purchasing agent at Southern Federal Bank and Sandra Bass has joined the Gulfport based financial institution as a loan processor, according to Ray L. Crowell, president.

Smart joined Southern Federal in June, 1979 as a teller in the institution's main office. Named an assistant vice president in 1983, she became branch manager of southern Federal's Gulfport Depot branch in September, 1984.

Her new duties as purchasing agent will include all purchasing related activities for Southern Federal's seven Gulf Coast branch locations.

Bass, who previously worked for southern Federal in the late 1970's, joins the institution's lending office in Gulfport.

Her previous experience includes loan originating and loan processing work at other lending institutions along the Gulf Coast, including Gulfport and Mobile.

"Our philosophy is always to service our customers with outstanding people in every department," Crowell said. "The experience that Susan Smart and Sandra Bass bring to these two key positions further demonstrates our commitment to the highest quality of banking service."

Southern Federal Bank, which opened in Gulfport in 1959, began as a savings and loan institution.

Last Fall the institution changed its name from Southern Federal Savings & Loan to Southern Federal Bank for Savings so as to better represent the institution's diversified financial services now available through recent banking deregulation rulings.

The $139 million asset institution operates seven branches throughout Harrison and Jackson counties, plus several mortgage lending offices in Mississippi and Louisiana.

The institution's new main office building, now under construction on Highway 90 at 33rd Avenue in Gulfport will open this Fall.

All deposits are insured up to $100,000 by the FDIC.

Free cholesterol screenings slated at Garden Park

AMI Garden Park Community Hospital is offering "free" cholesterol screenings during the months of August and September.

More than 50 percent of Americans have blood cholesterol levels high enough to be at risk of heart disease. And most of them don't know it.

It is a known fact that coronary heart disease is the leading cause of death in the U.S. So help yourself—take an important step toward reducing your risk of heart disease and have your cholesterol checked.

Come to the main lobby, located on Broad Ave. Wednesdays during the hours of 7 a.m. until 11 a.m.

An 8 hours fasting is required. Each cholesterol screening is performed by using a fingerstick sample and you get an accurate reading in only 3 minutes.

For more information call the public relations department at 864-4210 ext. 372

Advance mail order Evita tickets offered

Tickets at advance sale prices for "Evita", the 1980 Broadway blockbuster, are now available for the Coast production set for August 28-29 in Biloxi.

"These mail-orders are being offered before we open to the outlets," according to Riveira Productions box-office manager Mary Feamster, who noted this is being done "due to early interest in the show."

The international musical hit is the winner of seven Tony awards, including Best Musical; six prestigious Drama Desk Awards, including Best Musical and the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award for Best Musical.

Feamster said mail-order reservations should include 1) the performance date desired, 2) a stamped, self-addressed return envelope and/or 3) whether tickets should be held at the box-office until showtime.

All mail-orders should include a telephone number.

Pre-sale prices are $8 balcony and $10 orchestra for the 8 p.m. performances both days and $8 for the 2 p.m. Aug. 29 matinee. All tickets are for reserved seating except the matinee, which is general (or, open seating) admission.

Checks or money orders should be made payable to Riviera Productions, P.O. Box 1232, Biloxi 39533. Orders will be handled on a first-come first-served basis, according to Feamster.

Riviera is a non-profit, professional non-union all musical comedy theatre company.

Tree association subsidizing disease control research

BATON ROUGE, La.—The Louisiana/Mississippi Christmas Tree Association, a consortium of tree growers dedicated to perfecting local tree production, is sponsoring research on ways to combat needlecast disease, the most common fungal infection affecting Christmas trees grown in the two-state area.

Growers have been advised to frequently spray their trees with fungicide, a random process that has been proven to be costly.

Don Blasingame, a plant pathologist, is working on a C.T.A.-funded project to monitor the seed-like fungal spores that develop into needlecast disease. "Our goal is to use our findings to develop the most cost-efficient schedule for fungicide spraying, which must be done year-round," says Blasingame.

Blasingame goes on to say that "Needle cast symptoms don't appear until about a year after initial infection, so growers have to spray before infection occurs."

Blasingame adds that any scientifically designed spraying schedule would be a preventative measure to avoid needlecast disease, not a cure.

Dr. Blasingame is conducting his research with the Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Mississippi State University.

Weekly State Crop Report Covering week of July 25-31

Midge flies threaten sorghum crop

Grain sorghum farmers in Mississippi should control for midge before the tiny orange flies take the "bloom" off a promising 1987 crop.

Dr. Jim Hamer, an entomologist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said grain sorghum is blooming in the state. He said midge attack during this stage when the plants form a grain head.

The entomologist said adult female midge lay eggs in the head of grain sorghum and when the eggs hatch, the larvae damage the plant by eating their way out of the head. "This is the only time this small fly can lay eggs in the plant," Hamer said.

State farmers planted 160,000 acres of grain sorghum in late May. About 80 percent of the crop has reached the bloom stage, with each plant having four to nine days to bloom. The crop could be lost if midge control is not begun.

"The crop looks very good because of the rainfall we had earlier in the season," Hamer said. "We are feeling pressure from the midge right now, so we do need to manage this pest problem and protect our crop."

Adult midge are controlled with insecticides, thus preventing the females from laying eggs. Each female can lay up to 120 eggs per day and once the eggs are laid, insecticide penetration is impossible.

Hamer said grain sorghum fields should be scouted weekly for midge. If farmers find one midge per sorghum head, they should begin chemical control.

In other agricultural news, Extension county agents reported most crops are doing well but rain is needed.

Hay harvesting is well underway in Leake County and some dairy farmers have begun harvesting corn silage.

"Hay fields that have been cut need moisture to obtain a good second cutting," said Leake County Agent Don Schmidt.

Scattered thundershowers in Grenada, Forrest and Franklin counties have given soybeans and cotton a boost.

"High temperatures and humidity are making conditions tough on poultry, cattle and other livestock," said Grenada County Agent David Roberts.

Corelli and Handel featured on Concert Hall

Performances of works by composers Corelli and Handel are featured on the next edition of "Mississippi Concert Hall" to be broadcast on PRM at 9 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 13 with a repeat broadcast at 1 p.m. Sunday Aug. 16.

The first performance is by the Meridian Symphony Trio, which is composed of Brian Gum, violin; Deborah Gum, organ; and Dick Brown, cello. The trio performs one of the "Church" Sonatas of Corelli. The performance was recorded at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Meridian.

The Water Music Suite of George Frederic Handel as arranged by Sir Hamilton Hart is performed by the Meridian Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Vernon Raines.

"Mississippi Concert Hall", which features performances by Mississippi musicians recorded around the state, is hosted and produced by William Fulton. PRM, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast from Biloxi, on 90.3 FM.

scheduled a 9:30 a.m. public hearing on Aug. 14 at the Hancock County Courthouse regarding the addition of a section of Beat Four along Longfellow Road between Highway 603 and the Waveland City limits and extending as far as Four Dollar Bayou at the upper end of Bayou LaCroix.

Gex stated that the county must have sewerage in order to avoid reinstatement of a moratorium by state anti-pollution agencies on any federally-financed sales, mortgages or purchases of property in the unincorporated area, including Bureau of Pollution Control and the State Board of Health.

Such a moratorium caused complaints from realtors to the supervisors in 1985, but was suspended after the regional district was able to assure the state agencies that plans were being made to provide sewerage.

"About half of the people there this morning wanted sewerage and the other half mostly wanted information about the easements," Gex said Saturday afternoon.

"There were a few who were hostile, but you always have one or two who don't want it."

New hope for breast cancer

One in every 11 women will be afflicted with breast cancer at some point in her life. However, thanks to improved methods of diagnosis and treatment, it is an increasingly manageable disease, with a complete cure rate among the highest of all types of cancer, says the National Foundation for Cancer Research.

Treatment often involves a combination of surgery, radiation therapy and anti-cancer drugs. The last method, known as chemotherapy, is toxic and usually causes side effects such as nausea and hair loss.

A scientific breakthrough—hormone therapy—pioneered by NCFRC project director Kathryn Horwitz at the University of Colorado offers a less traumatic treatment alternative.

Hormonal treatment involves high doses of progesterone, a female hormone believed to inhibit the growth of cancer cells. Side effects are rare and are generally not serious.

Dr. Horwitz has developed a new test which checks for the presence of progesterone receptors in a breast tumor. The test determines whether a woman is a good candidate for hormone therapy.

If she is not, the test enables her doctor to prescribe conventional treatment right away, without waiting to see if hormone therapy works and giving the cancer time to spread.

The National Foundation for Cancer Research is a private, non-profit organization based in Bethesda, Md. With the help of donors nationwide, it has allocated more than $50 million to basic cancer research over the last decade.

"It really went pretty well. There were a lot of good questions asked," the attorney commented.

One of the problems Gex has had in obtaining easements is the difficulty some members of the public have had in understanding the easement agreement papers.

The easements are needed to accommodate a two-inch line and a three-foot well with a grinder pump at each individual home site.

The easement will restrict the owner from building anything that will keep maintenance workers from having access to the pump and well or from building anything over the pipe.

The clause relieving the district of liability for property damage or injury will not relieve the contractor from having to repair any damages from installation, he added.

In addition, some of the agreements have been turned in to the regional district office at the Waveland treatment plant, Gex's office on Coleman Avenue or the Hancock County Courthouse without being notarized or without all of the necessary signatures.

People who grant easements now

Gex said people who grant easements now will therefore not have to pay a $3,000 installation charge. However, they will have to pay for any in-house plumbing or electrical work to accommodate the equipment as well as a monthly user charge.

The exemptions from the $3,000 charge are available to only a limited number of homes unless more grant funding is obtained, Gex explained.

The regional wastewater board, including its new county representative, Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, discussed the public meetings at their Wednesday night meeting as a possible method of getting as many easements as possible by Sept. 30.

Schott said she would take the proper forms to the public meetings in order to allow people to sign easements there if necessary.

The board also discussed the possibility of using Eaton's services to help obtain more grant funding for the county system.

In a related matter, the contractor for the plant improvements, Cajun Construction, is now on site, Schott said.

The plant improvements will be necessary in order to treat the increased amount of sewerage once the Waveland and Bay St. Louis collection systems are linked and the new county system added.

The plant must be able to provide a high enough degree of treatment to meet U.S. Environmental Protection Agency water quality requirements for the treated wastewater, which will continue to be discharged into Edwards Bayou.

Port commission to sponsor Martin Marietta workshop

By EDGAR H. PEREZ
Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission is among six sponsors of a Wednesday seminar at Broadwater Beach Hotel in Biloxi on "How to Do Business with Martin Marietta."

The event, scheduled from 7:30 to 10 p.m., is free and open to any representative of small businesses located on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Small business operators and contractors can learn how to work with Martin Marietta which is currently competing for the multi-billion dollar contract to build the living and working modules for the U.S. Space Station at the Michoud facility in New Orleans East.

Speakers from Martin Marietta will describe in detail the Space Station program and its potential economic impact on the Gulf Coast area.

Representatives of Martin's purchasing department will provide information on how to do business with a government contractor and outline potential opportunities for small businesses.

For further information call the Harrison County Development Commission, 1-863-3807.

Other sponsors include Biloxi Economic Development Foundation, Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce, Jackson County Economic Development District, and Mississippi Contract Procurement Center.

Hancock County School District saves 35,000 on insurance costs

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
At a $35,000 savings over last year, the Hancock County School Board accepted an all-risk insurance policy Friday with Stewart, Sneed and News Insurance Company.

The board had rejected bids from several insurance companies Monday because of different features offered in the proposals.

Business Manager Greg Jones and Board Member Billie Faye Lyons met this week with representatives of several companies.

The all-risk policy, which coverage includes fire, lightning, windstorm, vandalism and theft, accepted will cost the district $61,250. There is a $5,000 deductible for each occurrence.

The policy will go into effect Aug. 9, when the existing policy lapses, according to Lyons.

Although there were several bidders this year to provide insurance to the school district, last year many companies refused to insure school property because of all the damage caused by Hurricane Elena in the previous year.

Also at the meeting, the school board approved recommendations to employ Clementine A. Williams as principal at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School and Kimberly A. Myrick as principal at Hancock North Central Elementary School.

In other business the board: —Voted to rescind a motion to release Darlene Mills from her position as teacher at Hancock North Central.

—Approved a recommendation to employ Marie Donald Stewart as Chapter 1 Coordinator for the Hancock County School District.

—Approved a request to release five students to attend school in another district for the 1987-88 school year.

—Approved a $92,445.30 payment to United Roofing and Construction, Inc. and a $1,618 payment to Fred Wagner in connection with a storm damage roof repair project underway at Hancock North Central.

—Approved handbooks for all schools for the Hancock County School District for the 1987-88 school year.

Moore-Liebig

First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis was the setting for the July 25 marriage of Roxzana Fay Forrest Liebig and Michael Eugene Moore. The Reverend Nathan Barber officiated at the double ring afternoon ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mrs. Alice Dimteeli of Slidell and Mr. George Tate Forrest of Des Allemandes, La. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore Sr. of Poydras, La.

Nuptial music was presented by Tonya Sulik of Diamondhead.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an antebellum style pink satin gown overlaid in white lace, fashioned with ruffles on the full skirt. Her bridal hat was decorated with flowers and veil of silk illusion. She carried a traditional bouquet of pink and white blossoms.

Cynthia Moss of Pearlinton was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Michelle Moore of Waveland, niece of the groom and Gaynell Forrest of Des Allemandes, step-sister of the bride.

Erica Capps of Waveland was flower girl.

The attendants were attired in antebellum style gowns of satin and lace in rainbow colors of blue, yellow, green and lavender. They wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of complementary flowers.

Robert Moore Jr. of Waveland, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Abry Liebig of Bay St. Louis, son of the bride, and Brian Moore of Waveland, nephew of the groom.

Ushers were Brian Forrest, brother of the bride, of Covington, La., and Kenneth Moore of Waveland, brother of the groom. Shaun Moore of Daboll, S. C., the groom's son, was ring bearer.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bay St. Louis, where decorations included ferns, floral arrangements and wedding bells with streamers.

The couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

The 16 members in attendance discussed the upcoming Division Board Meeting to be held at Lake Taik-a-Khata on Aug. 21 and 22 and the next CPS exam, which will be held in November. Ideas for fund raisers and programs for the coming year were also discussed.

Professional Secretaries International is the world's leading organization for secretaries, promoting competence and recognition for those in the profession and provides opportunities for continuing education and personal development.

Secretaries interested in the Professional Secretaries International organization can contact Sharon Lowery at 865-5993/832-8993 or Lee Bass at 374-0404/872-1096. Meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month in the Mississippi Power Company Biloxi District Office auditorium at 6 p.m.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary

Calling for help should be as simple as dialing the phone or knocking on a neighbor's door. But for many elderly or disabled persons living alone, it can be a frightening experience, especially if a fall or medical emergency makes it impossible to reach the phone.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary in Bay St. Louis recognizes this problem and is sponsoring a personal emergency response system called Lifecall.

Home units are available for individuals at a rental of $29.98 a month. Lifecall is an emergency response system that works through the telephone lines. It consists of a base unit, and two wireless transmitters.

One is a small wireless pendant transmitter that can be worn around the neck, or carried in a pocket.

The hand-held transmitter is to be placed in the bathroom in case of a fall, or can be carried outside when going to the mail box, etc. This hand-held transmitter has a range of 200 feet from the base unit.

Lifecall protection means never being alone. Lifecall offers 24-hour-a-day protection, 365 days a year at the press of a button.

When any life-threatening situation occurs, simply press a button and immediately life-saving help is on the way. The Lifecall system notified a professionally trained and manned emergency control center. Immediately within seconds, help is notified and emergency personnel are on their way. Doctor's name and choice of hospital are on the subscriber's information record.

The phone automatically dials for help and the system will work even if the receiver is off the hook, or if there is a power interruption. All vital medical and security history is stored in Lifecall's computers and at the press of a button all vital information appears on Lifecall's monitoring screen.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary is now offering this service so hundreds of older and handicapped persons can live secure, independent lives in their own homes without fear of life-threatening emergencies. For many, Lifecall can replace costly nursing homes or in-home nursing care.

Lifecall is a life-saving system that is providing its value every day and it's now available.

For information contact Hancock Medical Center at 467-9081 ext. 2180 Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary

Submitted by Dr. Esther Oschmann
Patriotic Instructor, Disabled American Veterans
Auxiliary, Department of Mississippi

Ten years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence our founding fathers created what historians have called the greatest single document struck off the hand and mind of man.

Our founding fathers created the Constitution of the United States of America. For the first time in history, power was granted by the people to the government and not by the government to the people.

The freedom unleashed by the Constitution allowed the American people to develop their talents and abilities to the fullest, also to attain what is now known as the "American Dream."

As we commemorate the Bicentennial of the Constitution, there is no better way for you as an American to reaffirm the principles for which our country stands than to learn more about the Constitution, the words we live by.

The month of August is dedicated to the composer Francis Scott Key. The Star Spangled Banner, adopted by Congress in 1931 as the National Anthem of the United States of America, was written by Francis Scott Key, a Baltimore lawyer in 1814.

England was at war with the United States, and Key had gone aboard a British warship to arrange the release of an American prisoner. He was forced to stay on board during the night-long bombardment of Fort M'Henry near Baltimore.

In great anxiety, he wondered whether the fort could withstand the British attack. At daybreak, as firing ceased, Key saw the Stars and Stripes still waving. In joy and relief he wrote his great poem, "The Star Spangled Banner." The following is the first verse. "Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light, what so proudly we hail at the twilight's last gleaming; whose broad stripes and bright stars, thru' the perilous flight, o'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming? And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air gave proof through the night that our flag was still there. Oh, say, does the Star Spangled Banner yet wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave?"

All Americans should display our flag for all occasions. God Bless America.

DOWN HOME

Some of the objects we possess are significant to us. These objects are cared for, cherished and passed on to future generations with the hope they will continue to be treasured. These objects are our "family keepsakes."

Keepsakes may reinforce and help to stabilize our sense of who we are. They help us retain memories of people and experiences that have meaning to us. They may provide emotional support.

What is a keepsake? Heirlooms, collectibles and antiques each have identifiable characteristics, but can also be classified as keepsakes, as shown by the following definitions.

Keepsake—Something kept as a memento or reminder, or for sentimental value. A keepsake may also be an heirloom, collectible, antique, reproduction or other object.

Heirloom—A piece of personal property owned by a family or several generations. It may have special monetary value or sentimental value.

Collectible—Any object that is collected other than traditionally collectible items, such as art, coins, stamps and antiques. Collectibles are usually products of the Machine Age and curiosities of the past. Normally, the object can no longer be purchased new. These are the more recent "old things" and may be "future antiques."

Antique—Generally, something at least 100 years old, made prior to the Industrial Revolution (1830) and mass production, that has handmade quality, with one-of-a-kind characteristics, and/or with some historical or cultural value.

However, even the experts disagree with the "true" definition of an antique. The commonly accepted definition is 100 years old. Purists, however, use the year 1830 in defining antiques, as this was the year determined by the government for taxation of imported antiques.

Cooking celebrity joins Kmart staff

TROY, Mich.—Martha Stewart presides over a multifaceted enterprise that evolved from her $1 million-plus catering business. Her catering of distinctive food combinations and presentations launched her into the public eye in 1976. She began attracting clients from the Paul Newman to New York's Cooper Hewitt Museum, Sotheby's Galleries and Ralph Lauren.

Stewart operates from her Westport, Conn. 1860 farmhouse compound, which includes several barns, a greenhouse, a smokehouse, and flower, vegetable and herb gardens. She teaches her philosophy through various projects including a syndicated entertaining column appearing in 62 newspapers across the country and as a television hostess on her own PBS series entitled "Holiday Entertaining with Martha Stewart."

In addition to her writing and television projects, Stewart conducts monthly three day cooking and entertaining seminars for those who desire personal "how-to" guidance from Stewart herself. She is a year-round fixture on the national lecture circuit, where her slide presentations on entertaining, gardening and antiques attract up to 800 people at a time.

Martha graduated from Barnard College in New York and worked as an institutional stockbroker for seven years. In 1976 Stewart decided to go into business with a gourmet take-out shop. Her catering career began with a friend's request to do a wedding reception. Today she operates with a permanent staff of seven and dozens of freelance cooks and assistants.

In 1982, Stewart's first book, "Entertaining," was an instant success and has sold close to 400,000 copies. "Quick Cook," based on her magazine column from House Beautiful appeared in 1983 followed by "Hors D'Oeuvres" in 1984 and "Pies and Tarts" in 1985. These first four books sold a combined total of over one million copies. "Weddings," her latest book, was released in March 1987.

Martha Stewart's hallmark way of turning natural foods into original menus and infusing her table decor with personal warmth and flair sets the standard for entertaining for thousands of devoted followers.

In August 1987, Martha Stewart became the home entertaining and lifestyle consultant for K-mart Corporation's new Home Fashion Division. In this role she will consult with K-mart merchandisers for coordinating and developing products for today's busy consumer. The products and entertaining tips will be carried in Kitchen Korner in K-mart stores nationally.

Kitchen Kornerstones, tip sheets bylined by Stewart, will give pointers on using cooking utensils and table decor items available in K-mart stores for informal, affordable entertaining.

Over 10 million copies of Martha Stewart's first Kitchen Kornerstone tip will be distributed in all 2,200 K-marts across the country beginning October 1987.

Good Food Buys: Plan Luau for Summer Fun

The character of regional or native foods and food service provide insight into the way people think and live, their tastes and preferences. Scandinavian smorgasbords, English high teas and Hawaiian luaus create the image of changing scenes, flavors, costumes, decor and atmosphere.

You can explore the world's culinary treasures and find satisfaction in your own creativity.

While food and customs regarding its use vary in different parts of the world, food serves the same basic need for all.

It is interesting to vary the way we serve our own Mississippi foods. For example, if you have a special occasion coming up, treat your guests to a different atmosphere—like a Hawaiian luau. You can use foods grown and produced right here in your own state. Enhance them with a few flavors from the islands if you like.

Entertaining the Hawaiian way means putting the emphasis on informality, friendliness and fun. With a background of flowers and greenery, with sweet Hawaiian music playing softly and with simply but delicious things to eat, you have the makings of a Hawaiian-style party wherever you live and whatever the occasion.

What will you serve at your luncheon, tea or buffet supper to carry our a Hawaiian theme?

Naturally, you'll feature pineapple—the symbol of hospitality. Other traditional favorite island foods that you can find almost everywhere are bananas, coconut, avocados, sweet potatoes, chicken pork and tuna.

Then there are other Hawaiian specialties in fancy food shops in larger cities. Among these are fresh papaya juice, passion fruit juice, guava juice and jelly and macadamia nuts.

You don't have to stick to only these foods. The main idea is to keep the food simple with not too much work to prepare or serve.

The luau, a traditional celebration feast of Hawaii, is as informal as a feast can be. The food is set out all at once on a "tablecloth" of ferns and leaves spread on the ground or on a table. Everything is eaten with the fingers from ti (pronounced tea) leaves. These have no relation to the beverage tea.

The feature of a real luau is the whole roast pig (kalua), cooked in an underground pit. Poi is an important accompaniment. It is a grayish paste made from cooked and fermented taro root, served cold and eaten with the fingers. Fruit punch is served throughout the meal.

According to Hawaiian terminology, a luau with kalua pig is not a luau but a poi supper. However, you can have a mighty good mainland-type luau without either poi or whole roast pig.

Here is a menu you can use. The ingredients for all the dishes are just as near as your grocery store—Honolulu Fruit Punch, salted nuts, relish plate, fried shrimp with catsup and mustard, pork and pineapple mystery packages or barbecued sweet-sour spareribs or teriyakis, baked sweet potatoes, coconut layer cake, pineapple sherbert and coffee.

Instead of fruit punch, you may decide to serve iced tea, decking each tall glass with a sprig of fresh mint and a long straw on which are strung three or four pineapple chunks and a couple of maraschino cherries.

Whatever occasion you plan, make the menu simple, the food good and provide a pleasant atmosphere. You'll be surprised how ordinary foods become extraordinary and at no extra strain on your budget.

Extension positions vacant

Applications for Extension home economist positions headquartered in Calhoun City (Calhoun County) and Lucedale (George County) are now being accepted, according to Dr. James R. Carpenter, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES). The minimum requirement for these positions is an earned bachelor's degree from an accredited institution of higher learning in home economics.

Interested persons should contact the MCES Personnel Office with a letter of application postmarked no later than Aug. 18.

Applications may be mailed to Mr. Milburn Gardner, Personnel Officer, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 5446, Mississippi State, MS 39762 or call 601/325-3462. Applicants may also contact their local office of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

Professional image seminar slated at Gulf Park

Maren Casano, image consultant, will be conducting "Presenting a Professional Image" on Saturday, Aug. 15, 9 a.m. The program will be held in Hardy Hall, Gulf Park Campus, Long Beach.

A fee of $15 will be charged for the seminar.

Although participants may register at the door, they should contact Darlene Underwood, 467-5456 to reserve a spot.

Mrs. Casano, president of Visual Impressions, has an extensive background in image consulting, color analysis and wardrobe planning.

She has trained personnel for such groups as Budget-Rent-A-Car, WWL-TV, LSU Dental School, Chrysler Corporation and D. H. Holmes.

Her artistic talents as a former free-lance commercial artist and interior designer provide a solid foundation for the work she now pursues. The Southeast district-Mississippi Home Economics Association, is sponsoring the seminar as a service to the women of the Gulf Coast.

Register early, as space may be limited, Underwood said.
